"What though the radiance which was once so bright
Be now for ever taken from my sight,
Though nothing can bring back the hour
Of splendour in the grass, of glory in the flower;
We will grieve not, rather find
Strength in what remains behind . . ."

William Wordsworth

This book is dedicated to Dean Wallace Colvard, in appreciation of all that he has done for this University

You and I, we were captured
 We took our souls and we flew away
 We were right

We were giving
 That's how we kept
 What we gave away

Neil Young

My back to the wall
 A victim of laughing chance
 This is for me
 The essence of true romance
 Sharing the things we know and love
 With those of my kind
 Libations
 Sensations
 That stagger the mind

Walter Becker and Donald Fagen

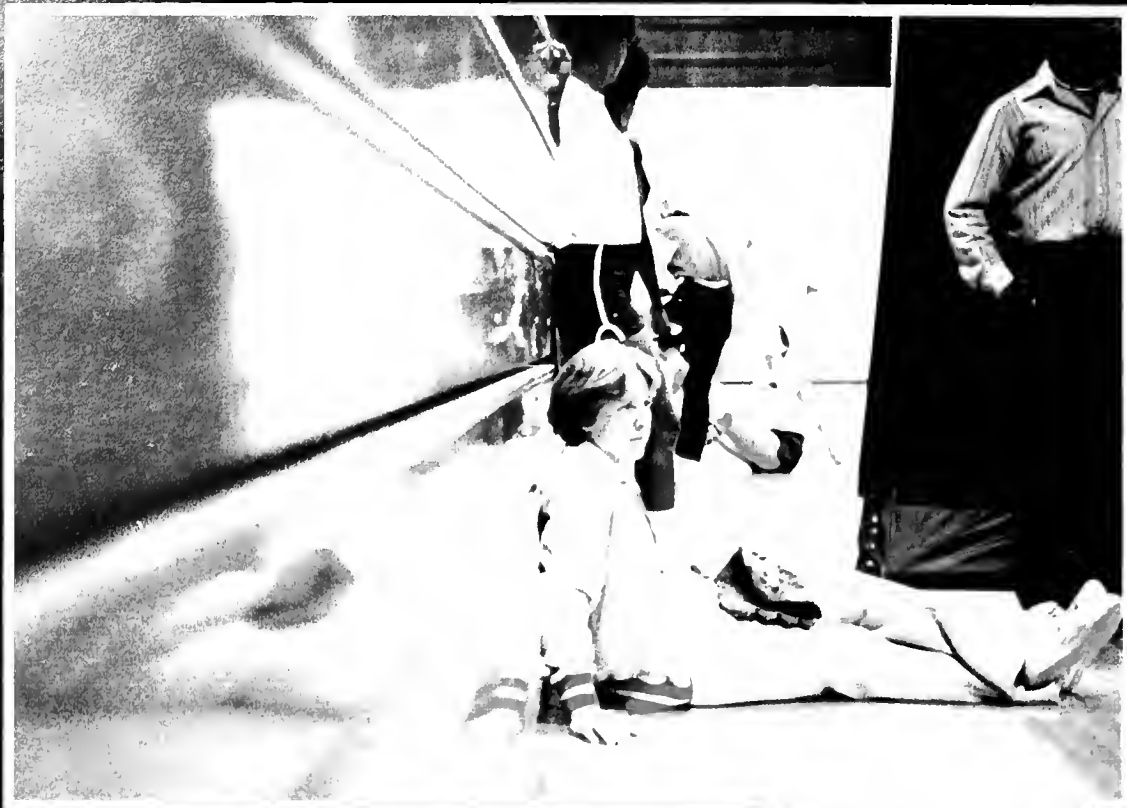

Sailing heart-ships
Thru broken harbors
Out on the waves
In the night
Still the searcher must
Hide the dark horse
Racing alone
In his fright

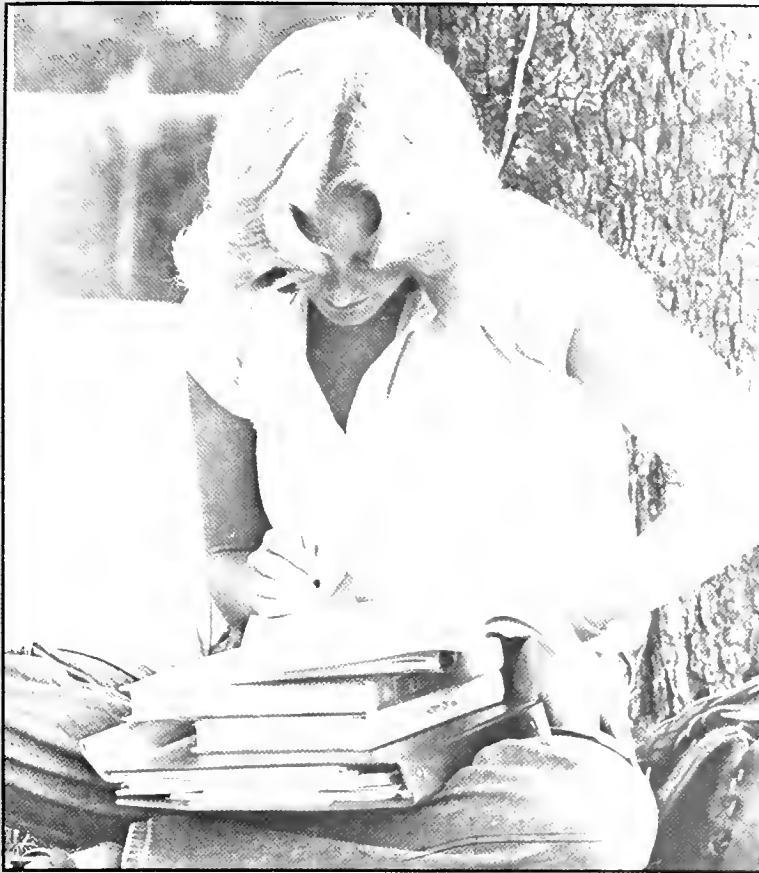

Tell me lies later
Come and see me
I'll be around for awhile
I am lonely but
You can free me
All in the way
That you smile

Tell my why
Tell me why
It is hard to make arrangements
With yourself
When you're old enough to repay
But young enough to sell

DEAN WALLACE COLVARD

Dr. Dean W. Colvard was born in Ashe County, North Carolina. He and his wife, Martha, have three children, two of them married daughters, and a son.

Dr. Colvard holds the B.S. degree from Berea College, the M.A. degree from the University of Missouri, the Ph.D. degree and honorary doctorate from Purdue University, and an honorary doctorate from Belmont Abbey College.

Some highlights in Dr. Colvard's professional career are: the professorship of Animal Science at North Carolina State College for one year before he assumed the job of department head of Animal Science at North Carolina State in 1948, in 1953, he became Dean of Agriculture at North Carolina State College; from 1960-1966, he served as President of Mississippi State University; and, in 1966, he became Chancellor of the University of North Carolina at Charlotte.

Chancellor Colvard brought about several significant developments to the University of North Carolina at Charlotte after his arrival in 1966. These are as follows: accreditation by Southern Association of Colleges and Schools and accreditation of programs in Nursing, Chemistry and Engineering; enrollment increase from 2,014 in 1967 to approximately 9,000 in 1978; successful organization of the Patrons of Excellence program with 198 persons, firms, or foundations pledged to give a minimum of $10,000 over a period of ten years; the launching of a graduate program from no program in 1968, to one with 1,400 students; the addition of a new professional program in Architecture; and a major building program now valued at $54 million.

Upon leaving, Chancellor D. W. Colvard remarked, "It's been a great joy for me to be involved with this university. My hope will be you give Dr. Fretwell the kind of support you've given me."

Chancellor Colvard and Bonnie E. Cone

DR. E.K. FRETWELL, JR.

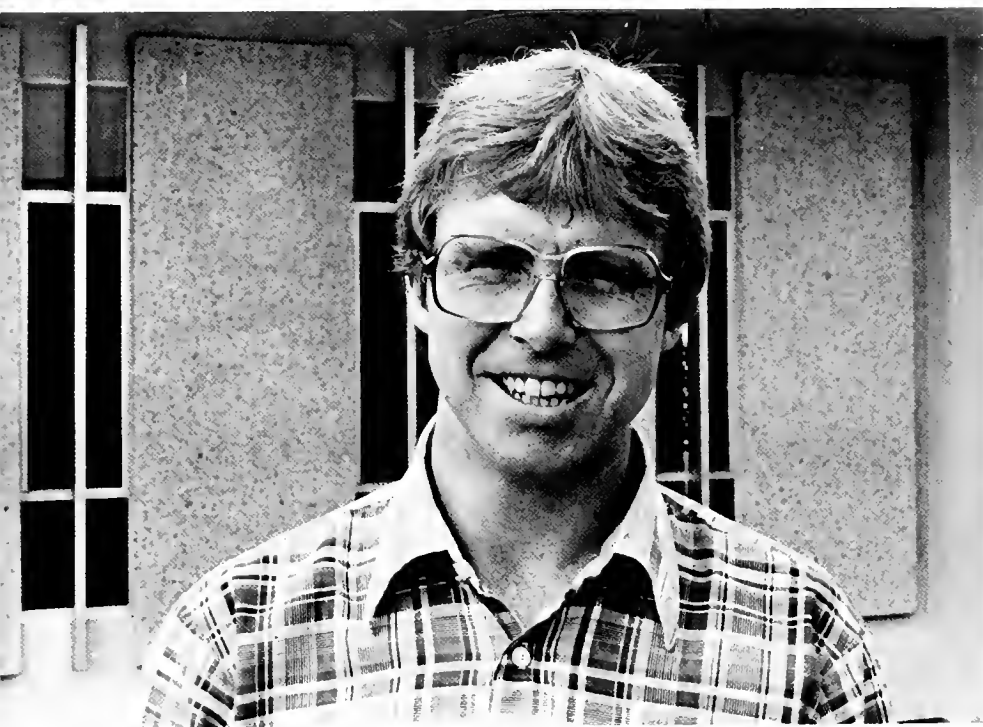

A native of New York City, Dr. E. K. Fretwell, Jr., left Buffalo State University where he was president, to assume the role of chancellor at the University of North Carolina at Charlotte, in January, 1979. He and his wife, Dorrie, have three daughters and a son.

Dr. Fretwell's degrees include the A.B. with distinction from Wesleyan University, the M.A. in Teaching from Harvard University, the Ph.D. from Columbia University, and an honorary doctorate from the Technical University of Wroclaw, which is in Poland.

Dr. Fretwell is president-elect of the American Association of State Colleges and Universities, has held several national offices which pertain to education, is author of "Founding Public Junior Colleges", and author of numerous chapters and articles in professional publications.

Upon accepting the chancellorship of the University of North Carolina at Charlotte, Dr. Fretwell said, "The present quality of the institution, the superb job Dr. Colvard and his associates have done, and the future prospects, make this position an irresistible opportunity."

CAMPUS LIFE

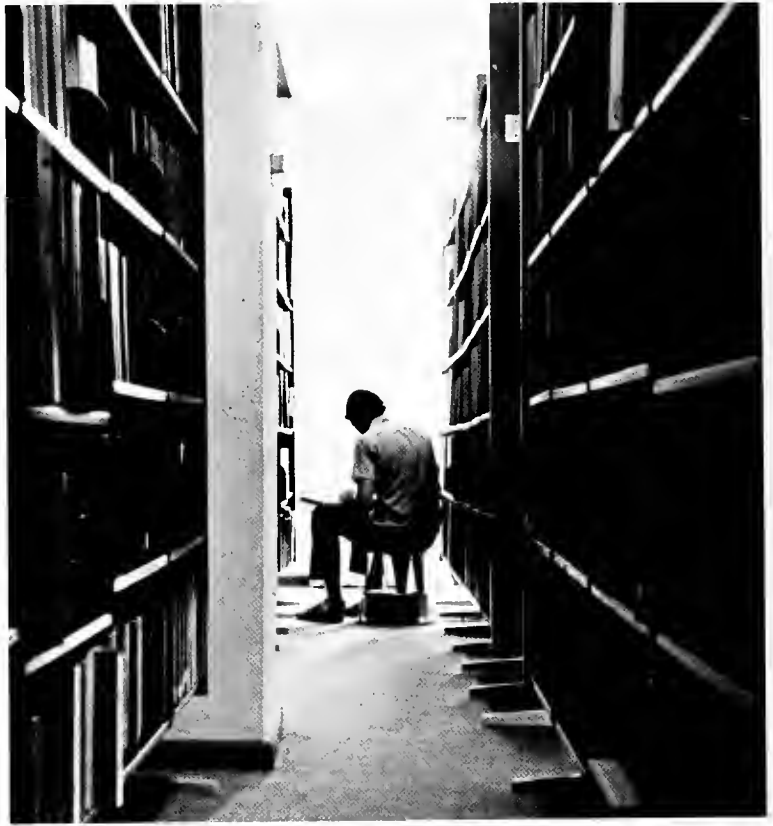

In the field of opportunity
It's plowin' time again
There ain't no way of tellin'
Where these seeds will rise or when
I'll just wait around till springtime
And then I'll find a friend
In the field of opportunity
It's plowin' time again
Neil Young

In a foreign land
There were creatures at play
Running hand and hand
Leading no where to stay
Driven to the mountains high
They were sunken in the cities deep
Living in my sleep

Neil Young

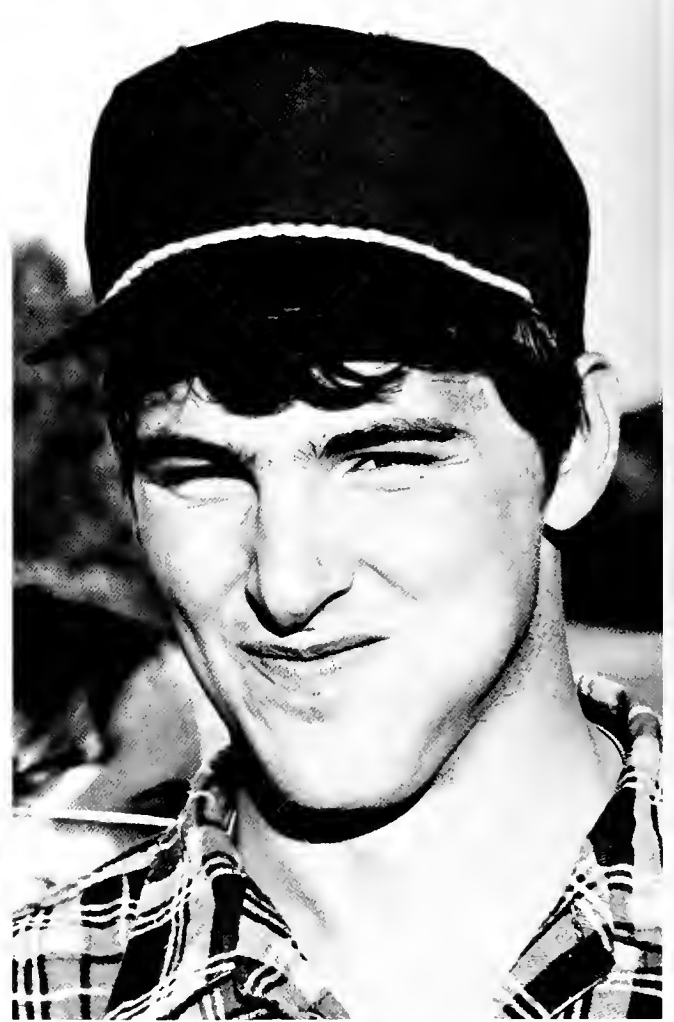

Oh, this old world keeps spinnin' round
It's a wonder tall trees ain't layin' down
There comes a time

Neil Young

If you are out there waitin'
I hope you'll show up soon
Cause my head needs relating, not solitude

Neil Young

Look around it
Have you found it
Walking down the avenue
See what it brings
Could be good things
In the air for you

Neil Young

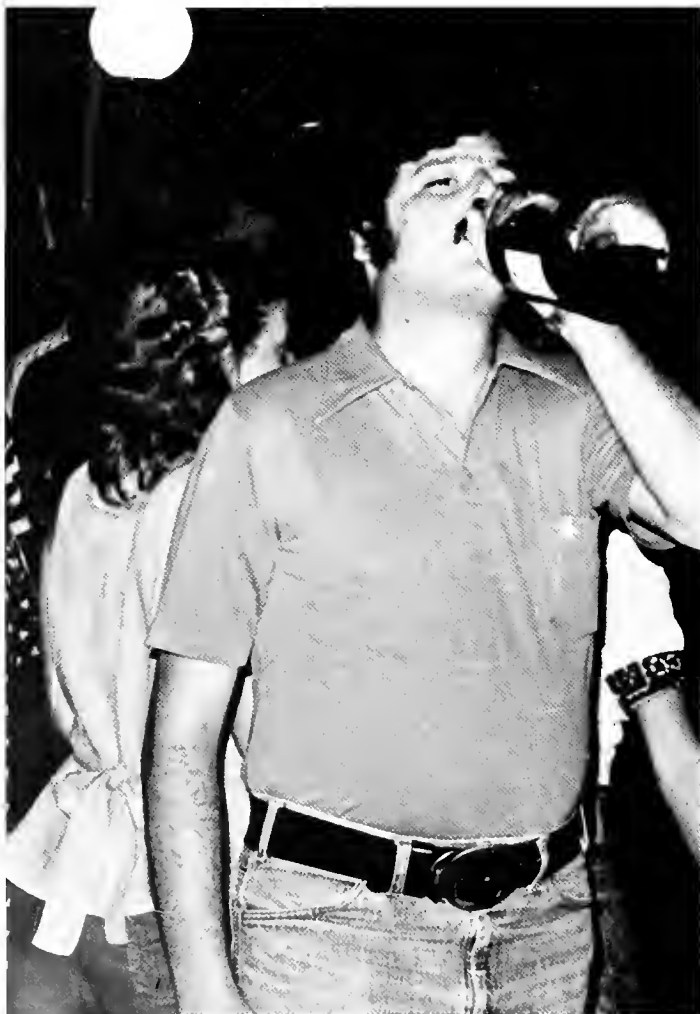

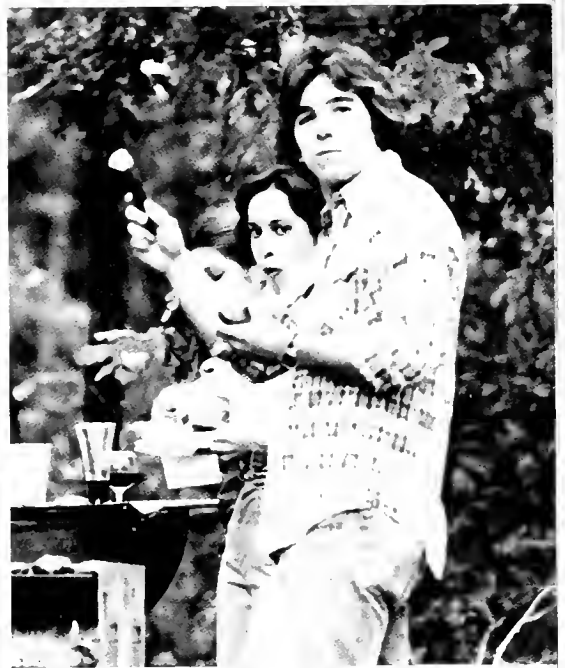

Well I dreamed I saw the knights in armor coming
Saying something about a queen
There were peasants singing and drummers drumming
And the archer split the tree
There was a fanfare blowing to the sun
That was floating on the breeze
Look at Mother Nature on the run
In the nineteen seventies

Neil Young

Livin' out my college days
With acid and happy gays.
I wanta go home.
Party nites and pagan rites;
I'd like to sleep but all the lights are on.
I wanta go home.

Someone's pumping water down the hall;
I sit and watch as the mold grows on the walls.
So smile awhile and chug another beer,
And ask yourself what the hell you're doin' here?

Parents sitting by the fire, they're gazing at the flame.
Payin' 16,000 bucks to improve your foosball game.
You'd better not go home —
They had to take out a loan.

Well, he's the beer drinkin' King of the Northwest Wing,
And he's built just like a blimp.
He's got sixteen girls in rags and curls,
And they all call him pimp —
You know he's never alone.

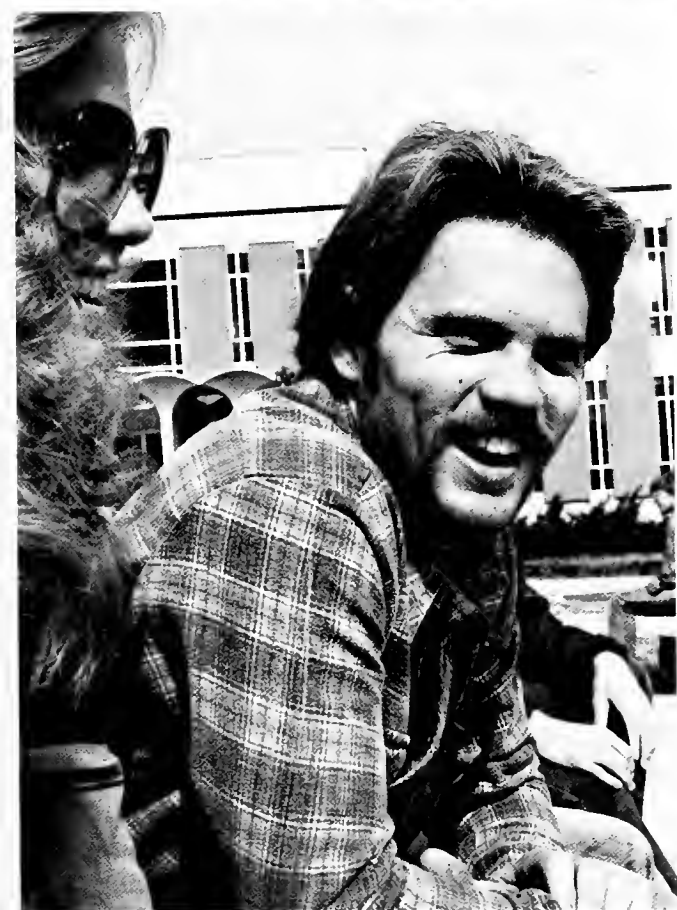

You got 14 guys and 14 stereos upon the hall.
14 different records, where do they find them all.
So smile awhile and chug another beer,
And ask yourself what the hell you're doin' here —
"What the hell am I doin' here?"

Irwin Bostian '78

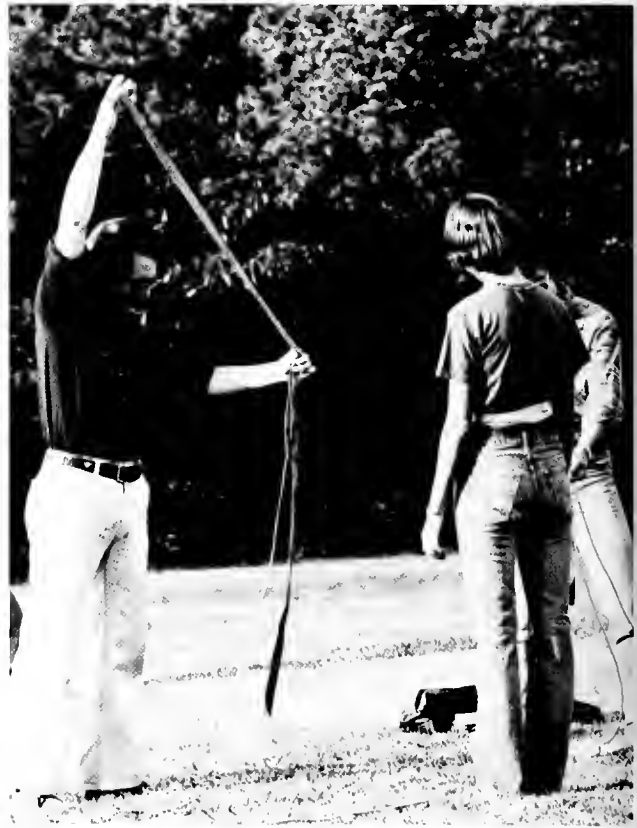

This is the day
Of the expanding man
That shape is my shade
There where I used to stand
It seems like only yesterday
I gazed through the glass
At ramblers
Wild gamblers
That's all in the past

I've seen love go by my door
 It's never been this close before
 Never been so easy or so slow
 I've been shooting in the dark so long
 When something's not right, it's wrong
 You're gonna make me lonesome when you go.

UNCC vs. UNO . . .

As the 49ers were preparing for their 2nd Sun Belt Conference game this year, they found a dismal 0-1 conference record and a 4-6 overall mark. However, all hope was not lost. After convincingly defeating St. Bonaventure 74-61 in the 1st round of the Milwaukee Classic, the 49ers almost took the title from Marquette in a close 61-57 loss to the 17th ranked Warriors.

The 49ers came into the Superdome to prove to Butch Van Breda Kolff and his Pirateers that our three previous one point victories were no fluke. They did just that by a victory of 68-63. As in the Milwaukee Classic, the 49ers showed poise and talent of the UNO team. The main reason was the much improved play of Phil Scott and his ability to pick up the scoring punch when needed.

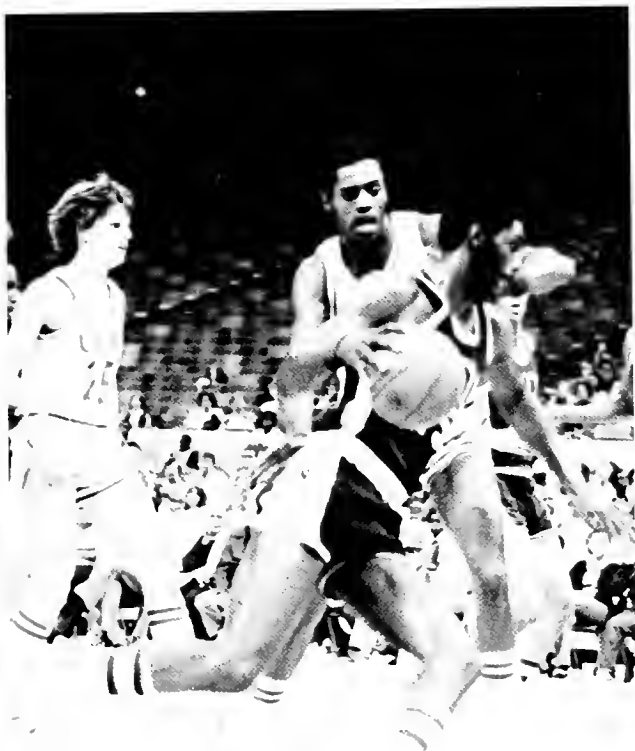

Chad Kinch has his usual good game, winning the Eastern Airlines award for his play. However, he openly admitted that Scott and King were just as deserving.

The 49ers improved play cannot be solely attributed to Scott, King, and Kinch, but rather to a better overall team effort. The young 49ers, (consisting of only two seniors, Jerry Winston and Kevin King), with most of the '76 NIT final team and '77 NCAA final four team gone, began to show that they too can play good basketball. Roland VanDenBergh began demonstrating much better movement around the basket, making him open for baseline shots and more effectiveness on the boards. Freshman, Phil "Bullseye" Ward, who had four steals against UNO, had the quickness and shooting the 49ers seemed to lack at first. Freshman Matt Houpt, also supplied the leadership necessary for a good point man on offense. Jerry Winston, who has seen more games from the bench than either Lee Rose or Mike Pratt, played excellent. His ballhandling was very instrumental in keeping the comeback-minded Pirateers away from the 49ers lead. He connected on two very key 1-1 situations to add four crucial points in the game's waning minutes.

Hopefully, the 49ers will continue to show improved play to close the season with a good conference record. If the team has a good season and wins the Sun Belt Tournament, they will get an automatic bid to the NCAA Tournament. This would be the 49ers second trip to the tourney and a chance, once again, for national recognition.

SANSKRIT

Sanskrit

James Kirkpatrick, Editor.

James is a former Creative Writing major at UNCC, now working on a degree in Theatre Education. He was Coordinating Editor last year for Sanskrit but this is his first year as an elected Editor.

A native of Charlotte, he has had poems published in several literary magazines, including CAIRN, ST. ANDREWS REVIEW, and FOOT (HILL) NOTES.

Beth Davis,
Business Editor.

Beth is a native of Gastonia and is a Freshman Art major at UNCC. She took over as Business Editor when Edith Kello left to take a job in another town. This is the first time that she has worked on a literary magazine, although she worked for her high school newspaper.

Linda Cook, Art Editor.

Linda is an English major at UNCC whose major interests lie in Photography and Graphics. Linda took over as Art Editor when the last Art Editor resigned, and has done a fantastic job since then. She is a former native of Ohio and has lived in Charlotte for over a year.

Dottie Roberson,
Assistant Editor.

Dottie is a former native of Florida, and recently moved from Concord to Charlotte. She is a secretary in the Architecture Department at UNCC, and worked as Photographer for Sanskrit last Spring. She is now photographer and co-layout editor for Sanskrit.

Lawrence Ferlinghetti

The Lawrence Ferlinghetti poetry reading was a first for Sanskrit. It was the first time that Sanskrit sponsored a poetry reading, and the first major poet to appear on the UNCC campus for a reading in 1978-79 Academic Year. A large crowd attended the reading and hopefully Sanskrit will be able to sponsor another reading of this magnitude next year.

"You, West Coast Review (Canada), and Rundy's Journal are the only forums with sensitivity of which I am aware. It is sad and it is Magnificent."

—Ronald Bayes,
Executive Editor,
ST. ANDREWS REVIEW

"On the whole, SANSKRIT is an enlightening magazine for those who appreciate various expressions of art. It is not a magazine to be picked up and only glanced through casually. SANSKRIT requires a great deal of concentration and a willingness to open the mind and let something (art) in."

Newspaper staff says once is not enough

"It's not just fulfilling a campaign promise, it's fulfilling a need for the students," Nancy Davis, editor of the Carolina Journal said. She is talking about the newspaper's plans to publish twice a week next semester. The decision involved the approval of the Editorial Board and the newspaper staff and, according to all, a lot of consideration.

"The Carolina Journal is publishing 16 or 20 pages regularly and providing a lot of information to the students," Davis said, explaining the decision. "However, publishing only on Tuesday was hurting the University in that students were getting information too late and some too much in advance to remember."

Plans for publishing bi-weekly have been in the making all semester, but it was kept quiet until the Editorial Board, which serves as an advisory committee and decision making body for the Carolina Journal made a commitment to go through with the expansion. "It couldn't be done unless we (the board) were all for it," Joyce Wright, arts/features editor, said. "It's going to involve more work, more time and more workers, all of which we had to make sure we were going to have before we decided."

In a recent board meeting, the members unanimously decided to go bi-weekly, but not to announce it until a staff meeting could be called. "We had to see what the response was going to be from the staff, too," Davis said. "If we didn't have their support, there would never be a chance for this to work out." The staff met on Tuesday, Nov. 14, and agreed with the board the paper should go ahead with the plans.

"It's going to involve a lot of changes in the long run," Davis added. "It'll be something new, but something helpful. Of course, we're going to run into some problems, but we all agree the main concern is ironing out all the problems, so next year's staff can jump right into the process."

Some of the changes include selecting two production editors, splitting the job of news editor, dividing the arts/features editor into two separate editors, adding another person-editor and some other minor personnel changes. "Right now, it looks like Kathy Espin will be the Thursday edition production editor and Rick Monroe is a possibility for the Monday edition production editorship," Davis revealed.

Tentatively, the schedule for distribution should be on Monday evenings, "about the same time they come out on Tuesday evenings now."

The Carolina Journal Board met recently to approve a recommendation to publish bi-weekly second semester.

Davis also said the Thursday edition should come out around noon. "That should come out around noon. That way, students who don't make it to class on Friday can get hold of the paper before the weekend." Instead of the traditional drop delivery, there should be wire racks located in "key places" on campus. "Hopefully, this will cut out all the mess we're having with papers just lying around. Also, a student knows they can walk into the to such a task. "It's going to take the rest of the semester and much time over Christmas to make the final arrangements. We'll be facing a tight money situation and more work for less pay, but it's about time we began a new tradition," Kim Burns, who is planning to split her news editor position into two positions, said. "I think that's why we're getting such a good response from the staff. They're real-

HOMECOMING 1979

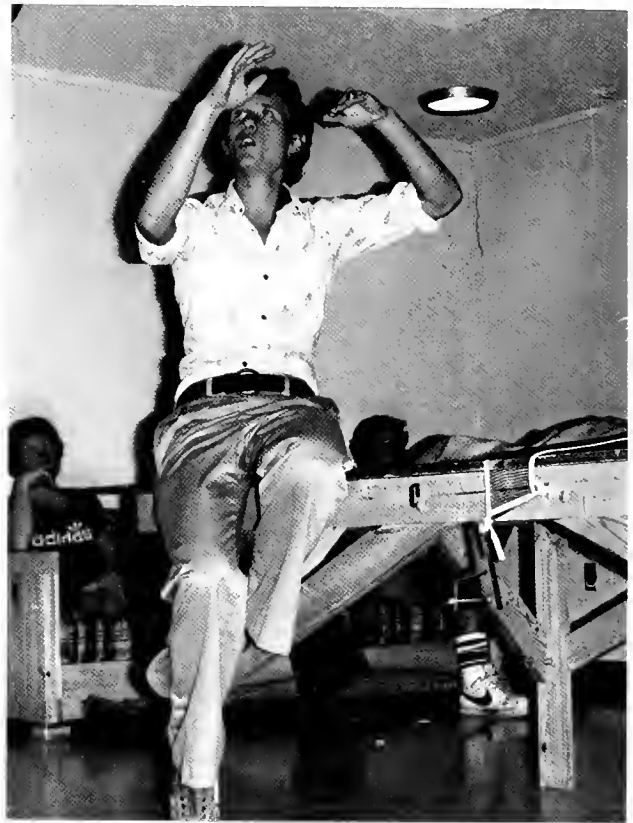

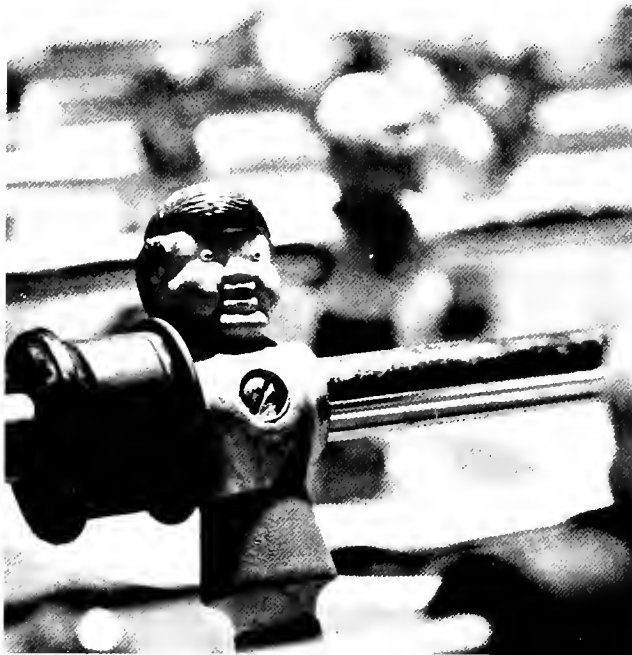

Homecoming Queen—Tina Oliver

Yes, star-crossed in pleasure, the stream flows on by.

Yes, as we're sated in leisure, we watch it fly.

And time waits for no one,
and it won't wait for me.

Time waits for no one,
and it won't wait for me.

Time can tear down a building or destroy a woman's face.

Hours are like diamonds, don't let them waste.

Time waits for no one,
no favours has he.

Time waits for no one,
and he won't wait for me.

Men, they build towers to their passing, to their fame everlasting.
Here he comes chopping and reaping, hear him laugh at their cheating.

And time waits for no man,
and it won't wait for me.

Time waits for no one.
and it won't wait for me.

Drink in your summer, gather your corn.

The dreams of the night-time will vanish by dawn.

And time waits for no one,
and it won't wait for me.

Time waits for no one,
and it won't wait for me.
